

Personal Injury Case Study 2

Andrew Greenwood acted on behalf of the widow of a van driver who was killed on the A1 at Bramham.

Thanks to a close forensic examination of his van, it was clear that this van was clipped on its offside by an overtaking van causing the deceased to lose control of his own vehicle, which subsequently crashed into a lorry.

Conclusion

The overtaking van driver was never traced, and consequently, a claim under the Untraced Drivers' Agreement was brought against the MIB with the case settling for a little under £500,000.00.
