

Personal Injury Case Study 3

Danielle Burrow acted for Mrs M of West Yorkshire, a pedestrian who was hit by an oncoming car as she attempted to cross the road.

Mrs M, who was 76 at the time of her accident, sustained a broken collarbone, a broken leg and laceration to her head. Although liability was admitted by the insurers for the motorist, the case was brought to Court because the insurers were offering an insufficiently high value to settle.

Conclusion

The case settled just before trial for £52,500.00.
